

SQUARE LIGHT

Family of luminaires for semi-public spaces

Environments such as libraries and open work places often consist of one shared space where people do different kind of activities. To create a good atmosphere for both working and relaxing, several light sources with different intensities are needed.

Square light comes in two sizes and can be both pendant and wall mounted. They can be spread out within a room for creating an ambient light, or placed in groups for areas where more light is needed, creating colorful clouds of Square Lights. Because the more luminaires the better, Square Light is designed to be of low cost and produced mainly through digital fabrication and otherwise standard parts. Thanks to this, no expensive tooling is required for production.
