An assembled system for wine and snacks

Exhibition openings and events at galleries often make use of disposable articles in forms of plastic cutlery or plasticised paper plates. A convenient container customized for these kind of events, that is reusable, would make the using of gallery opening appendages cyclic.

The system consists of a small plate merged with a wine glass holder, including the wine glass. The design allows the user to carry two things in one hand at the same time, as well as wash the object after use, as it is cast in glass.
